

Dale Rogers Training Center QUARTERLY

Spring Edition

March 2014

Shooting down myths about people with disabilities since 1953

ALL STAR EDITION!

Chris gives Serge Ibaka a few pointers during a Special Olympics event!

- ★ SIX GOVERNOR'S AWARDS
- ★ MCGOODWIN MOST ADMIRABLE CEO
- ★ NW CHAMBER NOMINATES DRTC FOR BUSINESS OF THE YEAR
- ★ 30 UNDER 30 AWARD
- ★ MY HEARTS APPEAL AWARD

Business of the Year Nomination from the NW OKC Chamber

Dale Rogers Training Center was one of three nominees for 2013 Business of the Year from the Northwest Chamber of Oklahoma City at their 75th anniversary celebration.

"As an entrepreneurial non-profit, DRTC's record of training and employing people with disabilities is constantly setting new standards for operational creativity. They are a shining example of the kind of holistic business environment that inspires the future," said Jill McCartney, President/CEO of the Northwest OKC Chamber

"Show me someone who has done something worthwhile, and I'll show you someone who has overcome adversity." - Lou Holtz

Coach Lou Holtz & Connie McGoodwin

Note from the Publisher:

Imagine my surprise when Connie saw my quote from the renowned football coach, Lou Holtz and said "By the way, I have an old picture with Lou Holtz in my office", to which I replied "Really, THE Lou Holtz?!"

It seems in the 80s Connie was a Regional Governor of Civitan International, a major sponsor of Special Olympics. Coach Holtz took individual pictures with the Regional Governors at a conference in Alabama. WHO KNEW!!! - Gayle Curry

Megan Allison My Heart's Appeal

Part of DRTC's mission is to mentor other entities providing services to people with disabilities, My Heart's Appeal is one of those organizations. Based in Oklahoma City, Lovetie Major, Executive Director is trying to raise money to purchase land for much needed services for people with disabilities in Liberia, South Africa.

Megan Allison, Executive Assistant to the DRTC Director, was honored with a Shepherd Award for serving as a liaison to My Heart's Appeal. Dale Rogers Training Center has provided evaluation, curriculum, policies, procedures and other resources to Lovetie and My Heart's Appeal.

Lovetie Major presents Megan Allison with her award made by Prism Place.